have been the cause of a huge loss in Putnam County in the months, according to the of claims that have been filed Auditor's office, since the the year, as the result of do-animals being killed, maimed wounded or injured by dogs.

This was used in the primary election, thus corrupting the primary, which is supposed to have been fireproof as far as corruption is concerned.

It is to be regretted that attorneys
for Jackson would not listen to him, when it was alleged he waived the rights on which he was acquitted, and desired to stand trial and stand or fall on the evidence produced. This is what the people should have had.

GOVERNOR IS ACQUITTED ON COURT'S ORDER

JUDGE DIRECTS VERDICT DE-CLARING STATE FAILED TO PROVE CASE.

RETURN VERDICT AT 5:05 P. M.

Jackson's Counsel Makes Plea As Prosecution Ends Evidence Of Alleged Offer To McCray.

Ed Jackson, governor of Indiana, was found not guilty late Thursday of a charge of conspiring to commit a felony in an attempt to bribe in a directed verdict of the jury in the Marion County Criminal court where he has been on trial since February 8.

The verdict was given at the order of Special Judge Charles M. McCabe of Crawfordsville, after he had sustained a motion of attorneys for the Governor asking a directed verdict of not guilty. The acquittal was on the ground that the state had failed to prove here had been any positive act of concealment of the alleged offer to bribe that would cause a cessation of operation of the statute of limitations.

The jury's verdict was given at 5:05 o'clock.

The only appeal is on the right of the court to direct a verdict, according to Judge McCabe. The state can not take an appeal to the Supreme court on the evidence, he stated. A reindictment will not be possible because of former jeopardy.

William H. Remy, prosecutor, and Emsley W. Johnson, special assistant, said they had not given thought to the right of appeal and would study the matter later. The opinion was expressed by Clyde H. Jones, defense attorney, that no appeal could be taken because the prosecutor did not enter an exception "at the time of the decision." Mr. Remy said he understood "the length of time in which an exception may be filed is optional with the court." Judge Mc-Cabe said, "I will not be technical in the matter of an exception, but I do not believe it would do any good to make an appeal."

Judge McCabe, in commenting on failure of the state to show concealment of the alleged offense, held that even though it should be assumed that the state had proved a conspiracy existed and that Jackson had offered a bribe to ex-Governor Warren T. McCray to bring about appointment of a prosecutor of Marion county in 1923, he would still have to direct a verdict of not guilty because of the fact that concealment had not been shown.

Concealment was a material allegation in the indictment against Governor Jackson, and its proof by the state was necessary in order to avoid the statute of limitations, which outlaws prosecution of an offense after two years.

Judge McCabe, in ruling on the motion of Governor Jackson's attorneys, held that such concealment had not been shown. In his ruling he took occasion to make a scathing denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan and its operations in Indiana, characterizing it as an organization that has fostered "dime and disgrace" in the state.

Governor Jackson received the action of Judge McCabe and the verdict of the jury with a smile. Immediately after adjournment of court he was surrounded by friends who congratulated him on his acquittal.

He left soon afterward with his attorneys and his son-in-law, Dr. Norman Beatty, who had been with him during the greater part of the trial.

Governor Jackson would make no statement, reserving his comment on the outcome of the trial until disposal of indictments against his code-fendants, George V. Coffin, Republican city and county chairman, and Robert I. Marsh, his former attorney for the Ku Klux Klan. Coffin and Marsh were indicted jointly with the Governor on a charge of having conspired to bribe ex-Governor McCray with $10,000 and a promise of immunity from conviction in any court in his legal difficulties, if he would appoint James E. McDonald as prosecutor of Marion county to succeed William P. Evans, his son-in-law.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 17. (UP)— Obviously pleased at acquittal although the manner in which it was obtained was against his wishes, Gov.
Ed Jackson today had little to add to his attorney's formal statement regarding the verdict.

"My attorneys have spoken for me," he declared to the United Press. "In view of the fact that the action in the cases against the other defendants (George V. Coffin and Robert I. Marsh) is uncertain, I do not think it would be proper to say more about the proceedings other than that we have witnesses to disprove all of the testimony offered by the state.

"The announcement of my attorneys," he added, "that the motion for an instructed verdict in my favor was made over my objections is correct. It is also true that I attempted to persuade them to withdraw the motion."

contained in a telegram from the widow. The body will be brought here Saturday for funeral services and

MORNING.

Mrs. Ross Watson, city, and Earl Watson, Cloverdale, are grandchildren of Mrs. Watson.

Complications that resulted from a fall on January 31 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Young, caused the death of Mrs. S. P. Watson, aged resident of Putnam county at the hospital on Friday morning at 1:25 o'clock. She was nearly 82 years of age and was a life-long resident of the vicinity of Roachdale.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Young, city; Mrs. B. L. Hall and Mrs. Joe Akers, Indianapolis; two sons, Carl Watson, city; Elmer Watson, Roachdale. Thirteen grandchildren and nine great grandchildren also survive.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

TO ANNUL MARRIAGE
ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 17. (UP)— The runaway marriage here of Chas.
W. Stubbs, 18, and Betty Lamb, 15, of Camden, O., will probably be annulled, according to the girl's father, Charles Lamb, who caused Stubbs' arrest at Alexandria, Ind., where the youthful couple was occupying a small furnished apartment.

The bride was a member of a girls' basketball team which played at Eaton, O., the night of Feb. 3, and she eloped with Stubbs after the game.

Stubbs is in trouble over an alleged worthless check he gave in payment for an automobile.

workers met in the Legion Hall last evening to lay plans for putting Putnam County across in the Legion Recruit Week, February 22nd to February 29th. This group of workers will solicit every ex-service man in the county, showing why he should back up the Legion, not only because of the national service of the Legion to the ex-service man, but also because of the service right here in Putnam County.

The deceased is survived by the husband, two sons, Gilbert of Indiana polis and Clifford, at home, one stepson William Thomas of Clinton township, and one step-daughter, Mrs.
John Burk of Clinton township.

from the Little Walnut Church in Clinton township, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in the Little vices.

SEARCH MIDDLE WEST FOR SLAYERS OF LAFAYETTE
DEPUTIES.

OFFICERS SHOT IN BACK

Bodies of Missing Deputies Found Yesterday Near Covington. Both Had Been Murdered.

LAFAYETTE, Feb. 17. (UP)— A manhunt, rivaling the search for Harry Durkin, Chicago's notorious "Shiek Bandit," spread over the middlewest today for two escaped convicts sought in connection with the murders of two deputy sheriffs.

An autopsy late this afternoon at Williamsport revealed that Grove had been killed with two bullets in his back under the left shoulder. His face and head had not been injured, giving evidence that he had died with little resistance. He was driving the car at the time of the attack. McClure had been shot once through the back on the left side of his body, and there were four bullet holes in his right arm, probably made by two shots which went through his arm while he held it in a bent position. McClure's head was crushed in the back, indicating he had been hit by some heavy instrument. The autopsy was delayed this afternoon until the arrival of Prosecuting Attorney Lawrence Davison of Lafayette.

The bodies had been carefully placed on the horsehide robe, which was found missing from Grove's car when it was found at Decatur, Ill., several days ago, and a few dead branches thrown over them. Grove's left arm had been placed half way around Mc-Clure's body and his right arm was at his side. One corner of the robe had been thrown over his head, covering his face. McClure's feet were crossed, his right arm was stretched along Grove's side and his left arm was curved about his head as though he were resting. The bodies were within three hundred feet of the Abdlil farm house from which several children go to school each day, along a path within sight of the brush pile.

The bodies were discovered by Charles Abdlil of Danville, Ill., owner of the farm. R. V. Cork and Fred W.
Oakwood, fence dealers, while the men were examining the fences. They immediately notified the Covingtona authorities. Covington is just across the Warren county line in Fountain county and when the officers found that the bodies were in Warren county they notified authorities at Williamsport, and Coroner Van Hamilton Sheriff Sam Cole, Fred Boyd, undertaker, and Marshal Lee Brier drove to the Abdlil farm, removed the bodies to the Boyd undertaking parlors at Williamsport.

Examination showed that Grove's diamond ring and stickpin, which were thought to have been stolen by the slayers were still on his person as were his two watches.

It is evident that the young criminals, who stole Grove's car after killing the deputies, had the bodies with them when they stopped at Crawfordsville and they crossed many streams during their flight, including the Wabash river at Covington.

three student teachers in the Greencastle schools and ten in near-had to take their practice teaching in Muncie, Terre Haute, or other cities.

Murder Theory Is Advanced In Ketchel's Death

FATHER OF LATE MIDDLE-WEIGHT CHAMP FOUND DEAD IN BARN.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 17.
(UP)—A theory of possible murder was advanced by police today in their investigation into the death of Thomas Ketchel, 74, father of the late Stanley Kitchel, former middleweight boxing champion.

"The elder Ketchel was found dead in a barn on his farm near here yesterday, his throat slashed. Authorities based their theory of murder on the absence of any weapon which Ketchel might have used to commit suicide.

The younger Ketchel was killed in 1911 in Missouri.

John Ketchel, another son, was held for questioning. He was taken into custody after his brother, Arthur, told police he found John's cap near the body of the father.

THE GOVERNOR'S ACQUITTAL

Governor Ed. Jackson was acquitted of a charge of attempted bribery by a jury in the Marion Criminal Court at the order of special Judge Charles McCabe, late Thursday afternoon. The acquittal came on a technical ground, in that the statute of limitations as applied, was held effective by the court in his orders to the jury to return a verdict of acquittal.

Citizens of Indiana will wait with interest the statement the governor will make following the settlement of the cases against George V. Coffin and Robert I. Marsh, who were jointly indicted with him. Mr. Jackson says this statement will convince the state of his innocence. It is safe to say that those who read the evidence of Warren T. McCray and William P. Evans, are of the opinion that they were giving facts. D.
C. Stephenson, lifer in the state prison, testified that he kept $65,000 in his hotel room for use politically.
This was used in the primary election, thus corrupting the primary,
which is supposed to have been fireproof as far as corruption is concerned.

It is to be regretted that attorneys
for Jackson would not listen to him,
when it was alleged he waived the
desired to stand trial and stand or
fall on the evidence produced. This is what the people should have had.

Governor Jackson was elected on the Republican ticket, but he had ample help from others outside the party.
It is to the credit of the party that the party was behind the investigation and prosecution which ended in his acquittal in an unsatisfactory manner.

REV. McLEAN WAS SPEAKER AT INSTITUTE

INSTITUTE FOR MARION AND FLOYD TOWNSHIP FARMERS HELD THURSDAY.

BAINBRIDGE INSTITUTE TODAY

The Series of Four Institutes Will Be Concluded With Institute At Cloverdale Tomorrow.

"Great Human Values" was the subject of Rev. McLean's speech before the Farmer's Institute, at Fillmore, last night.

The lecture was based on the finer sensibilities of good men and women and their noblest emotions. The issues of life, liberty, and happiness; of love, home and mother; of work, play and worship; of defeat and victory; the fragrance of a pretty flower; the touch of baby fingers, and the desire to know God, were all woven into this lecture in a way that touched everyone.

Mr. McLean has spent over fifteen years in gathering material for this one speech alone, and has made a careful and thorough survey for material, and subject matter, which he believes determines the outstanding "Human Values" of life.

Over 4000 speeches, some by Mr. McLean and some by other speakers, have been used for this lecture. Newspaper clippings and magazine articles have also gone into its make-up. These articles were boiled down until the meat of the material appeared. This, Mr. McLean used in his lecture on "Great Human Values."

The Institute program started Thursday morning and was held in the Fillmore High School building. L. S. Van Natta of Pleasant Lake, and Mrs. Carl Tuttle of Battle Ground were the principal speakers at the morning and afternoon session.

The Farmers' Institute for Monroe township residents was held in the Bainbridge high school building on Friday. The fourth of the series of four institutes, held in the county this week, will be held in the Cloverdale high school building, Saturday morning and afternoon.

The complaint to foreclose chattel mortgage, Fred V. Thomas Corporation versus Hancel Grimes, which was filed in the Putnam Circuit Court was dismissed Friday morning.

DECIDE ON CHANGE

INDIANAPOLIS—All remaining manual telephones in the downtown area will be replaced by dial telephones by July 1, directors of the Indiana Bell Telephone Company decided at their last meeting. The directors voted a quarterly dividend of two percent. Conversion of the downtown telephone system will cost $877,000, officials said, and will require 32 carloads of equipment.

Short Talks by Thoughtful Mothers

A Wisconsin Mother says: "I find mothers very well informed on the subject of 'cough' in medicines. Few mothers now-a-days would buy a preparation that contained opiates or chloroform. A glance at the package before buying tells her this. With Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, the name tells a true story. It is quickly effective for coughs, colds, croup and throat irritations. Pure as it is sure, and worth many times its price."—R. P. MULLINS, Druggist.

Konjola Is Most Popular Medicine Indiana Ever Had

Many Thousands Have Been Relieved of Their Health Troubles By This New Medicine.

"Konjola took a different form of action on my system than anything I had ever taken for my nervousness," said Mr. L. L. Gregory, 111 South 11th St., Newcastle, Ind.
"I suffered in poor health for some time and was never able to find the right medicine to help me. I kept getting worse instead of better, until I finally was a nervous wreck. I couldn't walk without staggering and the least bit of noise or disturbance nearly set me wild. Even my speech was effected and at times it was difficult for me to remember things. This was a serious handicap in my work, and I was becoming more discouraged all the time."
"The first bottle of Konjola seemed to find the cause of all my trouble and I noticed a new feeling of health over my system. I finished three bottles of this medicine and now my nerves are steady as anyone's, and all my health troubles have disappeared entirely. Konjola deserves the popularity it has."
Konjola is sold in Greencastle at the Owl Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section. —(Adv.)

CLINTON TONIGHT!

We're picking the Tiger Cubs to win from the visitors this evening by 3 points or more. Let's go, gang!

WELCOME CLINTON!

"Spike" Kelly, coach of the Clinton squad, thinks Willie Masten is one of the "hottest" forwards in the state and we agree with him. Over at Clinton a few weeks ago, Masten connected for 5 field goals and four free throws, a total of 14 points and "Spike" had two Clinton players trying to guard him. Now if Masten will do just as good tonight and Longden, Tobin, Lear and Brown deliver—well, it will be goodnight Clinton!

The Clinton team and fans will invade Greenville this evening with blood in their eyes. They have lost three games straight, to Bainbridge, Sullivan and Brazil. Don't be the too generous host, Tiger Cubs, and allow them to end this losing streak at your expense.

Antonini, who will probably be used at center by the Clinton mentor is a big boy. He reminds us somewhat of "Tiny" Hirt, way back in the good old days. Antonini is tall and well-built and can control the tip-off. Due to the lack of experience he is not so good on the basket ball floor after the jump but he will improve and should be one of the state's outstanding pivot men two years from now.

Cogan, picked by many sports writers, on all-state football teams last fall is another Clinton player that will have to be watched by the Purple and Gray netters. Marsh, Shannon, Focannon and Stump are the other regulars on the Clinton team and these boys play a mean offense and a tight defense.

At 7 o'clock, Coach Clean Davies' Junior Cubs will tangle with the Spencer Juniors in a curtain raiser to the Greenville-Clinton battle. The local Juniors should win this engagement if they play the brand of ball they have displayed in every contest so far this winter.

CROCK CLINTON!

Coach McConnell down at Princeton has kicked off four of his regulars for breaking training rules. George Daugherty, editor of "Net News & Views" writes comments as follows:

Four members of the Tiger squad were suspended by Coach McConnell last night before the regular practice for breach of training rules while on the road trip to Huntington Friday night. The four men are suspended for the remainder of this week and are placed on probation by the local mentor until next week.

Captain Mendal Kelly, floor guard; Frank Irons, forward; Charles Tichenor, forward; and Lloyd Combs, forward, were the boys suspended. The first three are regulars and Combs is a basketball letter man who has been eligible since last semester. —Princeton Clarion News.

"Bish" Hughes' DePauw rhinies defeated the Phi Delta Kappa basketball team by the score of 36 to 23 last night on the Bowman gym floor. The score at the half was 24-8 in favor of the Tiger frosh.

CROCK CLINTON, CUBS!

"ALWAYS TIRED AT NIGHT"—TRY THIS

A healthy person never feels constantly tired. Being "too tired" constantly tells of something wrong. When John R. Gordon, Danville, Ill., found himself "always tired at night and burdened with backache," he took Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, and writes: "After a few doses, I felt better, could work easier, became stronger, and slept soundly." Men and women everywhere use and recommend them. Satisfaction guaranteed. Ask for Foley Pills diuretic.—R. P. Mullins, Druggist.

The destruction has been widespread. Reports from Aurora show 50 to 85 % killing; Petersburg 90%; Vincennes 50 to 80%; Lafayette less than 1% alive; Mitchell 90 to 98% killed; Decker 50 to 75%.

In spite of the widespread killing, the Purdue authority advises that by careful management, growers who still have live buds may be able to supply at least part of the many consumers who demand peaches of the high Indiana quality.

BILL PRESERVED

MT. VERNON, Ind., Feb. 17 (UP)—A 45 year old five dollar bill whose excellent state of preservation showed it had been little used has just been put into circulation here, going for the purchase of gasoline for a 1928 automobile. The bill was issued by the First National Bank of Mt. Vernon on Feb. 25, 1883. It was signed by Manuel Cronbach, cashier, and Oscar L. McAllister, both now deceased.

SINCLAIR CONTEMPT CASE OF LONGEST DURATION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (UP)—The Sinclair-Burns contempt case, although merely an offshoot of the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial, was the longest in duration of judicial hearing of any of the 'oil cases' resulting directly and indirectly from the U. S. Senate's famous Teapot Dome investigation of four years ago.

It was the sixth "oil trial." Several of the other cases were argued on appeal several times, however, and the great number of motions to quash made by the accused men has caused more than a score of important judicial rulings in the cases.

The Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial, resulting directly from the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve lease, started last Oct. 17 and ended prematurely and without decision in a mistrial on Nov. 2. The contempt case started on Dec. 6, and has continued since, with a two-week recess for Christmas and New Year.

Senator George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska, created a sensation in the senate by charging Justice F. L. Siddons with dilatory tactics and abuse of judicial power in presiding over this case.

The contempt citation was issued by Justice Siddons, in response to a petition filed by U. S. attorney Peyton Gordon, three weeks after the mistrial. Six men were charged with committing contempt of court in connection with the shadowing of Fall-Sinclair trial jurors by Burns detectives. The six were:

Sinclair, who was charged with employing the detectives with the intention of obtaining evidence to force a mistrial if necessary.

William J. Burns, famous detective and former head of the justice department investigation bureau, who furnished the shadowers.

Henry Mason Day, vice-president of the Sinclair Exploration Company, who directed the detectives and received their reports.

Sheldon Clark, Chicago politician and vice-president of the Sinclair Refining Company, who aided Day.

W. Sherman Burns, son of "W. J." and directing head of the agency.

C. L. Veltch, Baltimore Burns agency manager, who carried $1,500 in cash from Baltimore to Washington to pay expenses of the jury-shadowing detectives.

The case was complicated by a grand jury investigation which took place in the three weeks between the mistrial and the contempt citation.

Another complicating factor was an adroit defense move which virtually made the office of U. S. Attorney Gordon a defendant in a case inside the contempt case, and also nullified part of the evidence obtained from Edward J. Kidwell, one of the Fall-Sinclair jurors.

Sinclair's lawyers charged that Kidwell was coerced by Assistant U. S. Attorney James O'Leary into signing false affidavits. The hearing on this charge consumed three weeks of the trial, at the end of which Justice Siddons, reserving his decision as to O'Leary's guilt or innocence, threw out the affidavits. The affidavits named two Burns agents, Barton Stewart and Frank J. O'Reilly, as having actually approached and conversed with him during the trial.

Lawyers for the Burns defendants charged the 15 detectives who did the jury-shadowing were intimidated by Assistant U. S. Attorney Neil Burk-Inshaw and other government men. Evidence was received on these charges.

Sinclair's lawyers admitted that the oil man employed the agents, but contended it was a precaution designed merely to protect the jurors from molestation. At the time of the mistrial, Martin W. Littleton and George P. Hoover, Sinclair's chief attorneys, issued a statement denying that they knew of the shadowing.

The mistrial decree was based principally on two affidavits quoting Kidwell as having said in a soft-drink saloon that he expected to get an automobile as long "as a block" if the oil men were acquitted.

The grand jury investigation and this contempt charge, however, were concerned chiefly with two affidavits by government men describing a raid on the detectives' headquarters in the fashionable Wardman Park Hotel here in which copies of all the reports made by the agents to Day and Clark were seized.

After the contempt trial had been under way for a month, the grand jury late in December made public a presentment charging Sinclair, Day, Clark, the two Burns, F. J. O'Reilly, and C. G. Ruddy, the latter two being in charge of the jury espionage work, with conspiracy to obstruct justice in the jury-shadowing. U. S. Attorney Gordon declined to write an indictment to bring the seven defendants to trial, because he thought it would hamper the contempt trial. Sinclair sought to have the accusation wiped off court records, but failed in open court. He also threatened informally through his attorneys to bring damage suits against the grand jurors.

Kidwell denied vehemently that he made the "car as long as a block statement" credited to him by Don K. King, newspaper reporter, and J. Ray Akers, street car conductor. Akers and King insisted their story was true.

Customers who are buying our hog houses are very enthusiastic about them. We have sold five this week.

Customer: "I am sorry but I have no money to pay my check."

Manager: "That is perfectly all right. We will write your name on the wall and you can pay it the next time you come in."

Customer: "Oh, don't do that. Everybody who comes in the restaurant will see it."

Manager: "Oh, no, they won't. We will hang your overcoat over it."

We received a car of Red Cedar posts and a car of the celebrated Red Brand Galvannealed fence and our stocks are complete for anyone wishing anything in this line.

Waitress: Tea or coffee?

Patron: Coffee, without cream.

Waitress: You'll have to take it without milk. We have no cream.

We have figured several house plans recently and business in this line seems somewhat better than last year.

"What was your idea?"

"Well, when one of my hens lays an egg now, instead of cackling, she comes to me and says: 'Charlie, I laid an egg—go get it.'"

Don't forget that we have plan books of all kinds, if you will just let us know which kind you are interested in.
